EMPLOYEE HANDBOOK:

As a new employee, we know the amount of information you receive when beginning new employment can become quite overwhelming. To help with this, we have broken up our Orientation information into a series of emails that we will be sending you periodically over the next several weeks instead of bombarding you with it all at once.

This first email in the Orientation Information Series focuses on the WWCC Employee Handbook.

The employee handbook describes important information you need to know about employment with Walla Walla Community College. It may not, however, answer all of your questions. If you have questions not answered in the handbook, please consult with Human Resources.

Except for employment at-will status, any and all policies and practices may be changed at any time by Walla Walla Community College. All such changes will be communicated through official notices, and revised information may supersede, modify, or eliminate existing policies.

Please read and acknowledge the following:

I understand and agree that nothing in the Employee Handbook creates, or is intended to create, a promise or representation of continued employment. Furthermore, I acknowledge that this handbook is neither a contract of employment nor a legal document.

I have received the handbook, and I understand that it is my responsibility to read and comply with the policies contained and/or referenced in this handbook and any revisions made to them.
